

BOBBY JONES SETS RECORD IN OPEN TEST

Atlantan Leads All Qualifiers by Seven Strokes and Turns in Record-Breaking Score of 134.

FOURTEEN U. S. GOLFERS ENTER

Watts Gunn Easily Qualifies for British Open With Score of 148 at St. Anne's Course.

London, June 17.—Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, rose to a new pinnacle of the golfing world Thursday by completing the 36 holes of the qualifying round for the British open championship in a miraculous 134.

His feat, dwarfing into insignificance the efforts of British and American stars, was hailed as an all-time record for tournament play. Following his record-breaking 60 on Wednesday on the difficult Sunningdale links, the American amateur champion shot a beautiful 68 Thursday to lead his nearest opponent, George Gadd, of Bournemouth, winner of the northern professional championship at Forthly recently, by the wide margin of seven strokes.

Fourteen of the 17 invaders qualified. Joe Stein and Silas Newton failed to get under the 154 limit at Sunningdale and John Reuter scratched. As Jones, unperturbed by the large, fashionable gallery which followed him over the links, sank his last putt on the 18th green for a three for the hole, a great cheer went up. Beautifully grown London society women and men in silk hats and cutaways joined the throng which acclaimed the youth.

The veteran J. H. Taylor said Great Britain had never seen such golf before. From Scotland's glens to Trafalgar square and Fleet street, players too numerous to mention recalled that Jones' 36 holes were the lowest aggregate ever recorded in two first-class rounds. The late Douglas Edgar, Atlanta professional, did 60 and 66 in the Canadian championships, in 1910; Emmet French, the American who competed in the qualifying rounds, negotiated the first two rounds in the Ohio championship in 1922 in 67 and 68. Aubrey Boomer recorded the lowest single round in title play in the 1922 French championships when he shot 65. The lowest single round in any British championship heretofore had been 68 by Taylor at Prestwick in 1908 and Tom Ball at Muirfield four years ago.

A glance at Jones' cards for the two days clearly indicates the remarkable consistency of his play. For the 36 holes he was ten under four. Only once did he go above four, shooting a five on the first hole coming in Thursday. He retrieved the loss by taking only two shots on the fourth hole coming in.

His cards follow:
Wednesday, out.....444 334 434—33
In.....334 343 444—33
Thursday, out.....444 444 434—35
In.....343 443 443—33

The golfing experts of the British newspapers joined in the generous praise for the Atlantan, adopting the superlatives of American movie subtitles.

Rowland Jones, who was paired with Bobby, called him the "greatest golfer." "In 30 years of play in first class tournaments," the Britisher said, "I have never seen anything which equaled those two rounds."

H. H. Hilton, former amateur champion, observed, "There never has been a golfer with such extraordinary command of all strokes."

Sunningdale, June 17.—(AP)—Led by Bobby Jones, the amateur champion.

HERRIOT BLOCKS BRIAND'S EFFORT TO FORM CABINET

Leader of Radicals Believes He Has Thwarted Plan of Briand To Construct Tenth Cabinet.

HERRIOT ANXIOUS TO BECOME PREMIER

Briand, However, Still Hopeful, After Poincare Promises To Become Member of Ministry.

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, June 17.—Edouard Herriot, former premier and leader of the socialist-radical group, believes he has successfully torpedoed Aristide Briand's chances of forming a national union government, and without an invitation from the president, has set about calmly to pick out his own cabinet.

While Herriot's refusal to join a Briand government is believed to have shattered the hopes of France's veteran cabinet builder for a strong national union group, Briand himself has thus far refused to admit defeat and has announced that he will continue to attempt formation of a body composed of strong national figures. Raymond Poincare has accepted Briand's proffer of a ministerial post, but with the condition that he be consulted as to his cabinet colleagues. But even with Poincare in line, Briand is thought by press and public to have little chance of success.

Poincare's promise that he would fill the difficult position of minister of finance was the only hopeful result of a day of conferences Briand had with political leaders. And even that promise was given only on condition that Poincare be more or less taken into partnership with the premier in the choice of a cabinet.

Herriot's only contribution to Briand's work was one of delay. He withheld positive refusal of a cabinet post until Thursday night, after the radicals and members of the left wing in the chamber of deputies had informed him they would support him if he were invited to form a government.

Herriot is believed to feel sure that as soon as Briand fails in his present efforts, President Doumergue will call for a Herriot government. Acting on that assumption he is already considering men who will fit into his cabinet.

"It has proven impossible to form the national union cabinet that was hoped for," Briand said after Herriot's refusal had been made public. "I shall continue, however, in efforts to make a strong government body."

Briand said that while he would continue to try to form a cabinet, he would not organize another makeshift government such as has just failed. "I have finished conversations for today," said Briand. "I shall see Herriot and Poincare again tomorrow and I expect to give the president my final reply as to whether or not I can form a cabinet about noon. It is not only a question concerning personalities, but also one of program which is even more difficult."

"While I now consider it impossible to carry out my original ambition to form a national union government I am still hoping to organize a fairly broad cabinet with members who have a certain amount of authority and enough strength to carry the load they must assume."

Announcement Comes After Long Battle in Cabinet, Featured by Resignation Threats.

DECISION GREETED BY LOUD CHEERING

Action of Russians in Sending Funds To Aid in General and in Mine Strike Causes Fight.

BY JOHN STEELE.

London, June 17.—Great Britain will not break with Russia. This decision, which was arrived at by the cabinet after a battle that almost led to a series of resignations, was announced in the house of commons this afternoon by Sir William Joyce-Hicks, home secretary. It was received with loud cheering by the laborites and cries of dissent from the die-hard section of the Tory party, who have been pressing the government to "throw the rascals out" ever since it became known that Russian money was being sent to England to support the coal strike.

The battle in the cabinet, which has been going on for several days, reached a climax last night. Lord Birkenhead, Winston Churchill and Sir William led the anti-Russian faction, while Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was supported by a majority in his policy of action in regard to the Russian relations.

At one time, the anti-Russians threatened to resign and split the cabinet unless action was taken but eventually they came into line and the announcement was made today by Sir William. Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, was Prime Minister Baldwin's chief supporter in the policy maintaining relations with Russia, which one of the same group described as a policy of selling cooping pots to cannibals if they wanted.

The argument of the moderates in that Russia, trade, while small, is growing constantly and is well worth fostering. Moreover, if the Russians are thrown out now, it would be difficult to get them back when they are wanted and it is a mere illusion to think that throwing them out will have any effect on the stopping of the communist propaganda which chiefly is carried on here by British subjects even if it is financed by Russia.

Aids British Treasury. The cynical argument also was used as well as the large sums now being sent by Russia to support the striking miners, relieves the British treasury.

NEW TRAFFIC COURT ASKED FOR ATLANTA

Ordinance Committee of City Council Will Recommend Measure to That Body Monday.

RECORDER'S COURT RELIEF PLANNED

"Saunders System" of "Automatic" Disposal of Cases Provides Specific Fines for Offenders.

Ordinance committee of city council at a special meeting Thursday in the council chamber of the city hall, acted favorably on an important measure which will be presented and recommended to city council at its regular meeting next Monday afternoon.

The measure, introduced by Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, provides an "automatic traffic court" for the city. It is designed to relieve congestion that now exists in recorder's court at police station and will take under its jurisdiction all traffic cases and minor infringements of traffic ordinances.

The "Saunders system," as it will be known, provides that first offenders of minor traffic ordinances shall be fined $5; second offenders, $11; third offenders, $16, etc. "Patrons under the 'Saunders system' will be permitted to deposit a fine immediately with a lieutenant on duty at police station and thus be relieved of having to wait in turn at a regular session of the court," it was stated by Mr. Saunders.

Another measure discussed at the Thursday meeting met unfavorable action. It provided that a charge of reckless driving be made against anyone violating the synchronized light system now in existence on practically every important street intersection in the city. It was pointed out that in many instances, although traffic moved against the light signal, the case could not now be called one of reckless driving. This matter, it was contended, should be left to the discretion of the arresting officer and court.

$6,000 Gems Missing From Raoul Home

Jewelry Belonging to Mrs. S. W. Altatter Is Sought by Police.

Robbery of jewels estimated by police to be worth $6,000 was reported to headquarters Thursday by detectives after conference with Miss Eleanor Raoul at the Raoul home on Lullwater road.

The jewels, which belonged to Miss Raoul's sister, Mrs. S. W. Altatter, included a large emerald ring, two diamonds and a sapphire and two lavaliers, one a lavaliere set with two large diamonds and the other a small one.

No clue to any entrance by burglars has been found and detectives believe the jewels were taken from the home of the Raoul family. A telegram from Mrs. Altatter notified Miss Raoul of the missing gems and a search was begun. When the jewels failed to turn up, police were notified and detectives Thursday night began a careful investigation for traces of burglary.

Thursday night Miss Raoul stated that she could not estimate the exact value of the missing jewelry. She was inclined to put on them a value figure than the estimate by the police, $6,000.

Alleged Bomb Found Under Judge's Desk

Supposed Infernal Machine Discovered in Demolishing Courthouse.

Trenton, Ga., June 17.—(AP)—What workmen believed to be an infernal machine was found under the desk of Judge Walter Tarrar, of Dale superior court, while they were demolishing the old courthouse here today.

The alleged bomb was made of water pipe seven inches long and attached to it was a fuse, wadded in with newspaper. The laborers scurried to cover when they learned the nature of the device.

Finally, one bolder than the others, picked up the "bomb" with the intention of taking it into the woods and setting it off, but changed his mind and dropped it into a nearby creek. The old courthouse was condemned some months ago and Judge Tarrar held his last term of court in a local church. No attempt to solve the mystery has been made.

GENERAL LASSITER HISSSED BY CROWDS

Demonstration of Chileans Quickly Quelled by Police—Peruvian Paper Vendor Is Assailed.

Santiago, Chile, June 17.—(AP)—Modification of the Monroe doctrine and the slogan, "Latin America for the Latin Americans," were urged by Deputy Edward Matte, Chilean representative on the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission, in an address before the chamber of deputies on the plebiscitary situation. His speech was loudly applauded.

Matte was followed by Deputy Estay, who declared Chile should do everything possible to remove the discredit placed on her by General Lassiter, the American chairman, in his speech before the plebiscitary commission the day his motion holding a plebiscite to be impossible was passed.

"Lassiter had no right to accuse us of such an offense," Senator Estay declared. "We should not forget that the United States robbed and took by force the territories that she now owns and which before belonged to Mexico and other nations. Nor should we forget that she usurped territory from Colombia. It is not, then, a general of that nation who has the right to accuse us."

The foreign ministry later announced that it had prepared a communication to foreign governments giving the Chilean viewpoint of the plebiscitary situation.

AMERICAN GENERAL HISSSED BY CHILEANS

Arica, Chile, June 17.—(AP)—General William Lassiter, American president of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission, was hissed today by a crowd of Chileans as he appeared at the window of his house, but the demonstration quickly was quelled by the Chilean authorities. Later a heavy guard of soldiers and sailors was placed around General Lassiter's house as well as those of other members of the American commission.

The demonstration occurred after a new vendor of a Peruvian paper had been attacked by dock workers near General Lassiter's house. The vendor's plight appeared critical when a crowd of Chileans gathered around the house and the police were called to the scene.

The demonstration was quickly quelled by the Chilean authorities. Later a heavy guard of soldiers and sailors was placed around General Lassiter's house as well as those of other members of the American commission.

Veteran Legislator Announces He Will Make Race for Office of Commissioner of Agriculture

Charles E. Stewart, of Atkinson county, for 10 years a member of the house of representatives of the Georgia general assembly, will be a candidate for commissioner of agriculture at the state primary to be held September 8, he announced Thursday in Atlanta.

Mr. Stewart said that he would qualify for the race before the closing date next Wednesday and would announce his formal platform shortly thereafter. J. J. Brown, incumbent, has not yet announced for re-election.

Mr. Stewart has been a farmer for 25 years, and always has taken a keen interest in legislation affecting agricultural interests of the state. In the house he was known as a leader of the farm group.

We have allowed ourselves so small a margin of time to catch the plane at Cherbourg that unless we arrive at 5 a. m. June 22 and are cleared immediately by the customs, immigration and quarantine authorities we will miss the regular plane at Paris and will be forced to employ a special plane in order to reach Berlin on schedule time. This would be an expensive and dangerous proceeding.

Last night I was elected to conduct an auction pool and succeeded in talking 305 pounds from the passengers. The pool was won by Dudley Field Malone, a New York attorney who paid 50 pounds for low field. The winning number was 539, this being the number of miles covered from noon yesterday to noon today. The total distance from Ambrose lightship to Cherbourg is 3,240 miles. Evans won 10 pounds in a hat pool today, but this only partly compensated him for the 17 pounds he contributed to the auction pool.

The odds of three to one, which have been offered against the success of the venture, have now been reduced to two to one. Many passengers are betting and all are tremendously interested in our effort to circle the globe in less than 30 days. Even those who are laying wagers against us wished us luck, declaring that they were simply gratifying their sporting instincts by betting.

CONGRESS TO QUIT SESSIONS JUNE 26, LEADERS PREDICT

Resolution To Quit Within Nine Days Expected To Be Offered in House Monday.

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—With a number of important legislative issues still hanging fire and final action on most of them unlikely before adjournment, house and senate leaders predicted today that the present session of congress would be brought to a close Saturday, June 26.

A resolution proposing sine die adjournment on that date is expected to be offered in the house Monday. It will have the support of Speaker Longworth, Representative Tilton, the republican leader; Chairman Snell of the rules committee, and others, although Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee, one of the powers in the house, has indicated he will oppose a getaway until final action is had on the rivers and harbors bill, now pending before a senate committee.

The plan to wind up business and go home nine days hence meets with the approval of republican leaders in the senate who expressed the belief that the legislative deck could be cleared for adjournment then. Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, not only said he favored a getaway at the end of next week, but thought it would be good for the country.

Coolidge Approves. It also was indicated that the adjournment program meets with President Coolidge's approval. Adjournment June 26, as congressional leaders saw it, means there will be no final action at this session on the French debt settlement, which the senate has not yet approved, on Mexican coal, and prohibition legislation, or on the rivers and harbors bill.

Efforts will be made to rush through a variety of important legislation, including farm legislation, the radio control bill now pending in the senate and a deficiency appropriation bill which would provide, among other things, funds for the start of work during the summer on the government's $165,000,000 public buildings program.

Fate of farm legislation was still in the balance today, as the senate continued debate on the McNary rider to the house cooperative marketing bill. A vote before the end of the week on the McNary proposal, similar with its equalization fee feature to the Hagen measure rejected by the house, was forecast, leaders pointing out that the senate, even should the McNary provisions meet defeat, might give its approval to the cooperative marketing sections.

Farm Action Demanded. Approval of the bill, with the McNary rider, would send the measure to conference, with final approval by both house and senate before adjournment a matter of conjecture.

In shaping up their programs for the closing days of the session with June 26 adjournment in view, leaders conceded that the fight over the rivers and harbors bill, with its controversial Illinois waterway provision, might upset their calculations. House supporters of the measure, led by Madden, and Chairman Dempsey, of the rivers and harbors committee, have announced they will oppose adjournment until action is had on the bill, while senate opponents have passed the word that they would "talk it to death" if an effort is made to force a senate vote.

$1,620,000 IS SPENT BY SENATOR PEPPER

Harrisburg, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Campaign committee reports showing republican primary expenditures in Pennsylvania last month of more than $1,620,000 in behalf of the ticket headed by Senator George Wharton Pepper, as a candidate for the United States senatorial nomination, were filed with the state bureau of elections late today.

The Pinchot committee expense account, filed last week, showed expenses of about $123,000. The Vane committee has not yet reported. Estimates before the senate campaign committee, however, have shown expenditures of more than $395,000.

Washington, June 17.—Names of congressmen and senators who have made speeches on prohibition at the request of the Anti-Saloon league and who were paid their "expenses and sometimes an honorarium," went in the record of the senate campaign expenditures committee tonight as disclosed by Wayne B. Wheeler, the league's general counsel.

The record came after a day of grilling at the hands of Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, chairman of the committee, and who tonight's session short because, as he announced, the committee understood that Mr. Wheeler was "not in the best of health."

The barrage of questions that began at the morning session continued unabated tonight, as the senator sought to learn of the inner workings of the league and their relation to the recent Pennsylvania primary.

Congress Members Named. Senators named by Mr. Wheeler as having accepted invitations from the league to speak on prohibition in various parts of the country were Jones, republican, Washington, and Willis, and Fess, republicans, Ohio.

Most People Manufacture Their Own Luck

Did you ever hear anyone say: "I never have any luck in finding bargains?" You have, and the statement was likely true.

Those who get the really choice bargains do not depend upon their luck in hunting from store to store. They read the advertisements in The Constitution every morning, and when they see a real bargain they go get it.

When you consider that The Constitution goes into over 32,000 homes in Atlanta and suburbs every morning, you may have some idea of how many up-to-the-minute ladies are looking for bargains offered in Constitution advertisements.

Is it any wonder why the lady who hunts from store to store for bargains seldom finds one?

Carlos Pounds Is Bicycle Winner

CARLOS POUNDS, AGED 10,
OF 1040 KATHERWOOD
DRIVE.

This handsome Ranger bicycle was earned by young Pounds by securing 25 new subscriptions to The Constitution.

"There's no denying it, fellow, it's a slick looking baby," remarked Carlos Pounds, 10 years old, of 1040 Katherwood drive, the second boy to win one of The Constitution bicycles within a week's time. "and if you'll snap up the picture business, I'll be riding."

After permitting the envious photographer to ride three times around the studio, Carlos was off to show the gang that it was all on the level, and that the handsome Ranger bike is all his own—for keeps.

Carlos is not proud of the fact that it took him but three short days to get the necessary 25 subscriptions to The Constitution which entitled him to the prize.

Worked Hard. Study the picture carefully. Is the young man happy? Note the smile, and then say he isn't. What 10-year-old Atlanta boy wouldn't be radiantly happy with the realization that in three days he had done something which resulted directly in his being presented with one of the finest bicycles ever made?

Who cares if there ain't no Santa Claus? The fact that Carlos broke the tape in only three days' running doesn't mean that he didn't work like a Trojan during every waking second of those 72 hours.

He had to do a lot of walking and talking. Had to go back to the same places three or four times. And it's been right hot, besides.

Saw Wheel Unpacked. Carlos is regular, however, and stuck by the old subscription book until he had the required number. And then he put in his appearance at The Constitution, where he was received royally and allowed to watch them unpack his trusty steed. Then he had a lot of fun while they were adjusting the seat. Getting on and getting off until his feet rested comfortably on the big wide pedals.

The happy part about the whole business is that The Constitution has a lot more bicycles just like the one Carlos won. And any boy or girl who is up and coming enough to go out after and come back with 25 new subscriptions can have a bike.

And have you seen the girl's model? It's as nice as the ones the boys have been winning, whether they admit it themselves or not.

He was given a fine of $500 and sentenced to serve twelve months on the chain gang, the term to be suspended upon payment of the fine.

The complaint alleges that young Hearst was libeled June 10 in a story which conveyed that he had been named on police books in connection with a criminal offense, that he had been on a "wild party," and that he had failed to return a rented automobile.

The suit was the outgrowth of a story about a Herbert Joyce being found injured in a wrecked car which he said had been rented by Hearst.

MISSING GEORGIA
SHERIFF IS FOUND

Macon, Ga., June 17.—(P)—Sheriff J. Clarke Middlebrooks, of Jones county, reported his return to Gray, Ga., late today in a telephone conversation to local officials, following an investigation as to his disappearance.

He left Gray this morning to come here for two prisoners who were to be given a commitment hearing. Court recessed at 1 o'clock until Saturday morning, when the sheriff didn't return to Gray.

The prisoners, Felton Wilkinson and Austin Pitts, are still in jail in Macon. The Jones sheriff explained that he had been hunting for witnesses.

Wilkinson and Pitts, the latter a negro, are charged with murder in connection with the slaying of two county policemen, in which case Groves Etheridge and Atkinson Etheridge have already been convicted and given life terms in prison.

"I'll have the prisoners on hand Saturday," said the Jones county sheriff.

Joe Wilson Called by Death To Last Room in Great Hotel

DESK MAN AT PIEDMONT PASSES AWAY

"Uncle Joe" Wilson has taken the last of his long life in the great Hotel above. The veteran desk man of hotels in various parts of Atlanta and Georgia has welcomed his last guest and the key is out of his box.

Joseph Stanley Wilson, affectionately known to his innumerable friends as "Uncle Joe," for more than 30 years identified with hotel operation in Atlanta and Georgia, died at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his residence, 229 East Fifth street, following an extended illness.

Mr. Wilson had been for the past three years chief clerk at the Piedmont hotel. Prior to that time he had held important executive positions with the Dinkler hotel interests, both in Atlanta and at Macon, for the past 15 years.

Mr. Wilson probably was more generally known to the traveling public than any other outstanding hotel official in the state. Always genial, heart, solicitous and loyal, he was possessed of that rare faculty for making and retaining friendships such as endeared him to literally thousands of those with whom he came in contact.

Two years ago Mr. Wilson was active in organizing the Atlanta Hotel Clerks' association, made up of the leading hotel clerks of the city. He was unanimously chosen its first president and only recently had been re-elected to that office.

Mr. Wilson was born 51 years ago in McGregor, Iowa, and while in his teens had come to the south to engage in hotel operation. He was proprietor of several hotels in Georgia and Florida at one time, and became associated with Louis J. Dinkler in operating the Dinkler hotel in Macon, before the latter came to Atlanta in 1914.

In 1917 Mr. Wilson came to Atlanta and assumed an executive position at the Kimball House. At the outbreak of the world war he volunteered for service, and although past the age limit, at that time was accepted as an instructor in the army at Fort Oglethorpe. For several months during 1918 he had served with the Georgia national guard on the Mexican border with the rank of first lieutenant. He was promoted to the rank of captain during his enlistment at Fort Oglethorpe, and held this rank at the time of his passing.

During the Spanish-American war he served with the American forces in Cuba as first lieutenant and was cited for valor and bravery several times. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Lee post of Spanish War veterans, and also a member of the local post of American Legion. He was also a member of the Macon lodge of Elks.

Besides his widow, two daughters survive. They are Mrs. J. E. Spence, of Atlanta, and Mrs. S. J. Weeks, of New Orleans, La. Funeral services will be held some time Saturday, the exact time to be announced later.

GANN ANNOUNCES FOR ALDERMAN

Robert E. Gann, 52, for more than a quarter of a century a leader in local and state labor circles and one of the best-known men in the labor movement of the entire country, Thursday announced his candidacy for alderman from the sixth ward.

Mr. Gann came to Atlanta about 40 years ago from Dallas, Ga., his native city. He has been a member of the Typographical union for more than 35 years. He is an outstanding figure in labor and fraternal organizations and has held with credit both to himself and the city many important posts in southern and national labor circles.

He is a former president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades and represented that organization at the 1924 convention of the American Federation of Labor at El Paso, Texas. He also was a delegate to the Mexican Confederation of Labor at Juarez, Mexico, and to the Pan-American Labor congress at Mexico City.

While at the latter convention he attended the inauguration of President Calles, of Mexico, at the great stadium in Mexico City, at which representatives of all civilized nations of the world were present.

Mr. Gann was a member of the American delegation which was headed by the late Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation, and was on the same train with the noted chief of American labor when the latter died at San Antonio en route home. Mr. Gann was the only Georgian in the entire delegation to Mexico.

While on this trip Mr. Gann toured Mexico and made a close study of industrial and economic conditions and since that time has written several interesting and educational accounts of his survey.

The candidate has served in practically every office in the typographical union. One year he was international representative of the organization and twice was a delegate to international conventions—at Colorado Springs in 1906 and Atlantic City in 1922. He was also instrumental in bringing the international convention to Atlanta in 1923.

He also was vice president of the Southern Labor congress three times. During the war he served in the government employment service, where he received four promotions. At the termination of hostilities he was superintendent of the Georgia division. He was called to Washington by the department of labor for conferences twice during his service.

He is now serving his second term as a member of the city democratic executive committee.

"I am not making the race to satisfy any political aspirations, but at the urgent solicitation of many prominent men and women, not only in the labor movement, but those engaged in business and professional pursuits," Mr. Gann said Thursday.

"If I should be the choice of Atlanta voters, and I believe I will, I shall represent no clique, faction or interest, but will endeavor to give all citizens the best service possible for me to render."

Friends pointed to Mr. Gann's record in labor circles with pride and declared that while he has taken an active part in deliberations of labor conferences, he has a record for being a conservative member and that he will not only seek to protect the working man, but will be found the friend of capital as well.

BROKER ARRESTED FOR VIOLATION OF COTTON LAW

New Orleans, June 17.—(P)—What authorities termed a "one-man" cotton exchange was closed here today and Benjamin Ellis, its alleged operator, was arrested on a charge of violating the national cotton futures act. Ellis was being held in jail tonight in default of $10,000 bond. He was also charged with using the mails to defraud for alleged "bucketing" operations.

Federal authorities said they found a "sucker" list in Ellis' office which contained 400 names. Most of the persons listed are residents of Texas. The arrest followed the filing of a complaint by a Texas customer of the concern, known as the Hollywood-Ellis company, and the Old Lot Cotton exchange.

FINAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. CHILDRESS

Funeral services for Mrs. E. J. Childress, 85, pioneer Atlantian, who died Thursday after a lingering illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Guy P. Bomer, 1650 White Oak avenue, Oakland City, will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the home. The Rev. Frank L. Adams will officiate and interment will be in Utsey cemetery.

Palbearers will be: H. B. White, R. A. McMurray, A. B. Bell, C. F. Poole, Lawrence Willis and Homer Landrum.

Mrs. Childress, daughter of the late Joseph Willis, one of the first settlers in the west section of Fulton and after the war between the states, was born in DeKalb county in the western part now known as Fulton county.

Although she has been in failing health for more than six months, her death comes as a surprise and shock to a wide circle of friends. Several months ago, when her health began to fail rapidly, Mrs. Childress fell and broke her hip and never recovered from the fall.

Mrs. Childress is the mother of E. E. Childress, well-known attorney, and J. D. Childress, merchant on Peters street. She also is survived by a daughter, Mrs. E. M. White; another son, J. E. Childress; a half brother, A. M. Willis; a half sister, Mrs. D. E. Warren, and ten grandchildren.

WOMAN STUDENT BEATEN TO DEATH

Seattle, Wash., June 17.—(P)—Strangled and beaten to death, the body of Sylvia H. Gaines, 22, graduate of Smith college and niece of William A. Gaines, chairman of the board of county commissioners, was found here early today.

Her body was found in a grove near Green lake, in the northern part of the city. The girl had gone for a walk about 8 o'clock last night, and when she didn't return her parents became alarmed and notified authorities. They said she had frequently gone for strolls in the evening, but had always returned early.

A roughly-dressed man, of busy stature, was seen last night by Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Stokes in the vicinity of the grove. They had met the girl shortly before that, they said, and had commented on the possibility that the man was following her.

Miss Gaines had been attacked and beaten brutally with a rock before being strangled, an autopsy revealed. The ground in the vicinity of the body showed that a terrific struggle had taken place.

Robert Gaines, the girl's father, is a world war veteran and is in a disabled condition, attributed to shell shock. He was prostrated by the slaying. Miss Gaines was graduated from Smith college in Northampton, Mass., last year.

'MY OWN BUSINESS IF I DIE,' SAYS FASTING THIEF

Danville, Ky., June 17.—(P)—John Middleton, confessed chicken thief who recently refused food for ten days and then began eating again when his brother promised to try to get him out of jail, has started fasting again—to death this time, he declares.

This morning Middleton announced that if he wasn't released by noon, he didn't want any more meals and when dinner was brought by Jailer Best, he made good his threat. He did likewise when the evening meal was served and claims that he has eaten his last meal until he either dies or is released from jail.

Incidentally Middleton went on another water strike in addition to the hunger strike. He refused to shave or wash his hands today—a peculiarity that also marked his first hunger strike.

Middleton insists he isn't crazy and declared that if he starves himself to death, it's nobody's business but his own.

He was a world war veteran and is in a disabled condition, attributed to shell shock. He was prostrated by the slaying. Miss Gaines was graduated from Smith college in Northampton, Mass., last year.

Hagood, of Brewton, Ala., and is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Mrs. Hagood's father is professor of mathematics at Chicago college, Columbia, S. C. ## Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts about dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh current through stagnant pools.

Internal treatment is the one safe method.

Painstaking and cutting won't do it.

J. B. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set to work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded.

To succeed his proposition HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied.

Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Store, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

WILDER CITIZENS HEAR J. O. WOOD

Winder, Ga., June 17.—(Special).—J. O. Wood, member of Fulton county legislature from Fulton county and a candidate for governor, stayed here today, chairman of the state highway board, in a fiery address here tonight.

Predicating his claim to the governor's chair on a clean, honest and businesslike administration, and assailing Holder for his "change of heart" concerning the issuance of bonds for better roads in this state, Wood charged that Holder changed his mind on political expediency.

"Holder would place himself at the helm of the state as a car and would rample the sacred constitution, which was bought with the precious blood of Georgians," Wood charged. "He is seeking to establish himself as a tyrant, appoint his own friends, and yield the hand of a kaiser in Georgia to the expense of her progress and her future growth."

"I shall fight this attempt and will carry my fight to the good, thinking of the state in my battle for the constitution, which will give me a safeguard to our rights and privileges. Holder is in the race on an anti-road ticket. He will come to you and tell you that the pay-as-you-go plan is the only safe, sane and economical way to pave Georgia roads. He will use every ruse in the catalogue of mendacity to convince you that the governor alone can issue or prevent the issuance of a great bond issue for paving, all of which is untrue."

"The constitution prescribes the rights and authority of a governor just as it does the rights, authority and privileges of every citizen of the state, and it specifically states that the governor can only recommend to the legislature, but that the legislature is clothed with the authority to override his veto."

"I come to you telling you that I will uphold the constitution, but that I will recommend the issuance of a bond issue, a reorganization of the highway department and I will insist on an economical operation of the state by refusing to sign pay vouchers for employees not needed."

"I shall by exercise of this same authority refuse to allow state funds to be allocated to public schools of the state unless the schools are at all times readily accessible to all students. I do not mean by this that the Bible must be read every day in the school room, but that the book must be kept in libraries where students may read or refer to it at a moment's notice."

While a member of the legislature, I proposed a bill providing that Bible verses must be read in all schools which state funds are used to help support, but withdrew it after I found it impossible to pass it."

The local auditorium was packed with persons from many miles around to hear the first address in the campaign.

Wife Slain By Husband After Search

New York, June 17.—(AP)—Finding his wife in the apartment of a woman friend after a two-week search, R. J. Telkes, president of a Chicago radio store, today shot and killed her and sent another bullet from his revolver into his brain. He is expected to die.

Police could learn no motive for the act. Mrs. Telkes, who was 32, came here from Chicago two weeks ago, and her husband followed her. She stayed at a friend's apartment on West 157th street, occupying one room in the absence of her friend, who is said to be a newspaper woman now in Philadelphia.

Telkes apparently learned today for the first time where his wife was staying. He checked out of his hotel here only a few hours before the slaying. Some time after he had gone to the apartment he and his wife were found lying on the floor, Telkes still grasping his revolver. Mrs. Telkes was dead, and Telkes believed to be dead. The coroner's jury, which was taken to the Knickerbocker hospital.

Grateful People Will Dedicate Jones Memorial

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The memorial William Atkinson Jones erected by the Filipino people in his home town, Warsaw, Va., in gratitude for his activities in congress which resulted in the enactment of the organic law, will be dedicated next Sunday by Senator Sergio Osmena, special Philippine legislative envoy, and Senator Carter Glass, Virginia, as the principal speakers.

The Filipinos regard the late William Atkinson Jones as a hero. At his death in 1918 the Philippine legislature proclaimed him as the outstanding champion of liberties of the island people. Shortly afterwards a $2,000,000 bridge was erected in place of the historic bridge of Spain and named the Jones bridge. Today many towns, public squares and streets in the Philippine Islands are named after the author of the Jones act. The mausoleum will be unveiled by Masters William Atkinson Jones III and Archibald Taylor Hopkins, Jr., grandsons of Mr. Jones. Mrs. Jones is still living.

Judge Joseph W. Chinn, of Warsaw, will preside at the ceremonies and Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, of Baltimore, will give the invocation. Other speakers will be representative Bland, successor of Mr. Jones in congress; State Senator Thomas J. Downing, of Virginia, and Resident Commissioner Pedro Guevara, of the Philippines. The army band will furnish the music.

Representative Jones was born on March 21, 1849, and as a member of the Virginia Military institute, took part in the defense of Richmond. He was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1870 and was a member of congress from 1890 until his death in 1918, being chairman of the house insular committee for many years.

JUNIOR CHAMBER DELEGATES TOLD GOODBYE AT PARK

Rousing farewell entertainments for the junior chamber of commerce delegates to the national convention in Jacksonville next week were given at Lakewood amusement park Thursday night by members of the junior chamber and woman's division of the chamber of commerce.

Nearly 400 couples attended the picnic, which opened with a picnic supper under the trees of the Sylvan Terrace at 8:30 o'clock and continued with excursions through the midway of the park and a dance in the casino until midnight. The casino was closed for the night except to members of the junior chamber and their guests.

The junior chamber delegation to the convention includes: Paul Burt, Dr. H. H. Kennedy, Roy Harwell, Frank W. Harrison, W. C. Spinks, J. W. Ray, William Florence, Dr. E. J. Davis, O. C. Hathcock, R. M. Ballard, John Armour, L. A. Burdett, George B. Yancy, J. E. Daniel, J. H. Woody, W. H. Fields, R. L. Hull, E. P. O'Shields, J. E. Scott, D. W. Clanton, F. W. Collins, L. M. Sheffield, J. E. Louise Hunter and Anne Yago, principals of the Atlanta Musical Comedy company, sang at the luncheon meeting Thursday afternoon preceding the picnic.

$6,000,000 ESTATE IS DIVIDED

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—Five grandchildren and nephews of John D. Jennings, eccentric millionaire, will share his $6,000,000 estate as the result of an order made Chief Justice Hugh Friend, of the circuit court, here today. The will, which gave the estate to his five grandchildren, was made yesterday declared superior by the state supreme court, after a fight by heirs.

Those who share the estate are George T. John, A. and Charles R. Jennings and Florence Brady, all of Chicago, and Edna A. Quest, of Louisville.

Indirectly the order holds that the same persons are heirs to the $3,000,000 estate of Edwin B. Jennings, who was the only surviving heir of John D., who died in 1887.

Coolidge Signs Patriot's Pledge For Celebration

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—President Coolidge today signed the "patriot's pledge," to be circulated throughout the nation during the week of June 25 during the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and the centennial of the death of Thomas Jefferson.

Twelve women descendants of signers of the declaration, all wearing colonial gowns, witnessed the signing of the president, who also attached his name to the "nation's birthday book," which, with thousands of signatures, will be preserved at Monticello, home of Jefferson.

The pledge is a pledge of faith to the ideals proclaimed by the signers of the Declaration of Independence. A contribution accompanying it goes to the preservation of Monticello as a national shrine.

The week's celebration was outlined by the Thomas Jefferson centennial committee.

'What Is Wrong With Atlanta?' Moody's Subject

With Mayor Walter A. Sims and members of city council invited to occupy a reserved section of the revival tent for the service, the Rev. George E. Moody, evangelist, will preach at 7:30 o'clock tonight on "What Is Wrong With Atlanta?" a sermon in which he will clear ground for two final sermons on proposed remedies for existing conditions. The first will be "The Holy Spirit" Saturday night and the second, "The Church," Sunday, "Fathers' Day."

"I do not intend to do any personal mud-slinging," Moody said in announcing his subject for the evening. "But in the three weeks I have been here I have learned many things in conditions that should properly be brought to public attention through the pulpit and I hope that I will be able to accomplish some public service by bringing them to attention."

WOMAN FRIGHTENS MAN INTO TAKING THE WRONG PURSE

When Mrs. W. C. Owens, of 783 East North avenue, returned to her home with two friends after a shopping tour of the city Thursday afternoon, the three women laid their purses upon Mrs. Owens' dressing table. They then repaired to another room for a chat.

An uninvited guest joined the party at this point, a negro man climbing through a side window. He slipped into the room and was standing at the dressing table where he was picking up the purses before Mrs. Owens heard him. She rushed to the door of her boudoir, shouted the alarm at the top of her voice and apparently terrified the negro intruder. He dropped two of the purses and escaped with the third purse.

Call Officers E. E. Brackett and Olin Williams discovered that the purse which the burglar had taken contained only 70 cents in cash and a few articles of small value, the policemen said. The other two purses, which the frightened negro had dropped, would have netted more; one contained $67 and the other $100.

He had not been apprehended at a late hour Thursday night.

Prince Fails To Find Ghost Of Ancestor

Ascot, England, June 17.—(AP)—Annoyed at what appears to be ancestral sacrifice, the ghost of Queen Elizabeth has refused to appear at the Windsor castle ghost hunt organized by the Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales and Prince Henry joined the heir to the British throne in leading house party guests of the king and queen through the great rooms of the castle and all were on the lookout for the apparition which is said to have appeared in the castle first before the beginning of the twentieth century.

Members of the house party will continue to watch for the ghost until they leave the castle tomorrow.

U. S. Planning To Buy Forest Land in Georgia

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—Another step has been taken toward the completion of the chain of purchased national forests protecting the headwaters of the navigable rivers of the east and south, by the authorization of the national forest reservation commission of the addition of 37,175 acres in Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

These national forests not only serve as protectors of the watersheds of the rivers of the region but help to assure a continuous supply of timber and act as demonstrations of practical and successful forestry for the information and guidance of timberland owners, the national forest reservation commission pointed out.

The addition just authorized brings the total area of these purchased forests to 7,275,900 acres. The lands being purchased are at an average price of $4.27 an acre. Of the total acreage 20,925 acres are located in Tennessee in the Unaka and Cherokee National forests chiefly in Greene, Carter, Unicoi, Johnson, Polk and Monroe counties. There are 12,152 acres located in Arkansas, largely in Yell, Perry and Franklin counties with smaller areas in Pope, Stone and Crawford counties, being acquired as additions to the Ouachita and Ozark National forests; 2,383 acres are in Georgia, chiefly in White, Union and Fannin counties, along the south fork of the Blue Ridge mountains and in the Cherokee National forest. In Virginia the lands consist of 636 acres, largely in Albemarle and Nelson counties as additions to the Natural Bridge National forest. In North Carolina the purchase of 323 acres was authorized in Macon and Cherokee counties, and in South Carolina, 167 acres in Oconee county, these being chiefly additions to the Nantahala National forest.

The commission authorized the purchase of land for the production of timber under the authority of the act by recent legislation in place of making use of the statute allowing purchases to be made for the protection of navigable streams, the lands being considered being in the Ouachita mountains of Arkansas and lying within the Ouachita National forest.

GARMENT STRIKE PICKETERS FREED FROM CHICAGO JAIL

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—While Chicago was engrossed in welcoming Cardinal Bonzano and the thousands of Catholic pilgrims already here, a second welcoming reception much smaller but none the less hearty, was staged at the gates of the Cook county jail.

Lily Greenberg, 31, of East Side, one of the 40 members of the Women's International Garment Workers' union who were sent to jail last week for the alleged violation of a court injunction against picketing, stepped from behind the bars late Thursday afternoon and were greeted with a hail of flowers and shouts of welcome by many union friends. The two girls, completing five-day sentences, were the first to be released.

With the aid of several more garment workers, all but two of them women, who must serve sentences from 10 to 70 days unless clemency is granted, Governor Small is being besieged with petitions from Chicago and Illinois labor federations to pardon the remainder of the prisoners.

Miss Greenberg will make a quick jump from jail to college. She has been selected by her schoolmates to take a course at the Brookwood Labor college, Katonah, N. Y., and she is leaving for the east at once.

SHEFFIELD MAKES REPRESENTATION IN LABOR DISPUTE

Mexico City, June 17.—(AP)—James R. Sheffield, American ambassador to Mexico, today made official representations to Aaron Saez, the Mexican foreign secretary, regarding threats by the Mexican Confederation of Labor to seize the El Globo bed and mattress factory owned by E. B. Welch, an American, in Mexico City. The American embassy refused, however, to make an official statement.

In consequence of a labor dispute the Mexican Confederation of Labor closed the El Globo factory last April. Ambassador Sheffield, who called at the Mexican foreign office in company with Arthur Bliss Lane, first secretary of the embassy, informed General Saez that the labor federation had removed from the factory material valued at 17,000 to 20,000 pesos and had notified Mr. Welch it would confiscate the entire plant unless he paid the workmen 5,000 pesos for their idle period and reemployed, all former workers.

NOW COMES BALLOON BURGLAR AT PARK

County police were searching Thursday night for the strangest loot that has recently been reported stolen in Fulton county, the aluminum rings and fittings and the silken cords which form the equipment of one of the balloons used by Walter Jewell, noted aeronaut, in his balloon school work at Lakewood amusement park.

The balloon stealer in a field two miles from the park after a practice ascension late Thursday in which the aeronaut tried out a new type of parachute he has developed. Within 30 minutes after the balloon was bag had settled to earth, Jewell went to recover it and found nearly $500 worth of equipment had been cut from it and carried off.

"The equipment is valueless except for the few dollars it is worth as scrap metal or for use on a balloon," Mr. Jewell said, "and I will be glad to receive it back with no questions asked if it is returned voluntarily before the police find it."

The loss will not affect the plan for Jewell to make a final public demonstration of balloon and parachute work at Lakewood park Sunday afternoon as the aeronaut will have two other balloons fully equipped and ready to inflate for the Sunday demonstration.

Oldfield Assails Coolidge Silence In Primary Probe

Washington, June 17.—The Pennsylvania primary is "plutocracy gone mad," declared Representative Oldfield, Arkansas democrat, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, in a statement on the disclosures made by the senate investigating committee.

The republican party of the state has now adopted the slogan of Philadelphia politicians, "corrupt and contented," he said.

"Nothing is more shameless and conscienceless than republican corruption in the late Pennsylvania primary unless it be the statement of Secretary Mellon declaring that the expenditures of nearly two millions of dollars are legitimate and justifiable, and holding the corruptorists blameless. He says that 'the money collected and expended in the campaign of Senator Pepper and others was as legitimately spent as if it had been on behalf of a church.'"

MORAL SUPPORT OF GROWN MEN NEEDED BY YOUTH

Lexington, Ky., June 17.—(AP)—Moral support, advice and personal contact of the grown man with the boy is most needed for boys' work. Earl B. Hess, of Cincinnati, declared in an address before the eighth annual convention of Optimist International.

The board of governors today discussed the proposed merger of the Optimist and Civitan clubs and decided to place the matter before the convention, probably Friday, for a vote.

International officers of the two organizations have approved the merger and it will be necessary for the Optimist in convention here and the Civitan, who meet in Philadelphia June 28, to approve the proposal before the clubs can unite.

Approximately 500 Optimists, headed by President Leo E. Nohl, of Milwaukee, are here for the convention. In his address today Mr. Hess said the club should "do a little advertising to further its boys' work." He suggested linking the Optimist's efforts with the Boy Scouts of America.

BODY OF KENTUCKIAN IS FOUND IN FIELD

Carlisle, Ky., June 17.—(AP)—After a search, lasting many hours, the body of C. C. Cole, 66, was found in a field about 200 yards from his home this morning. Apparently he had shot himself through the heart with a pistol and had been dead some time.

Cole, who was one of the wealthiest men in Carlisle, had for some time been an investor in Florida real estate around Orlando.

Two children survive, Miss Elizabeth Cole, a student at Vanderbilt university, Nashville, and Chester Cole, a student at a military academy at Springfield, Tenn.

Engineer of Wrecked Train Forgives Foes as He Dies

New York, June 17.—(AP)—How a dying engineer forgave his enemies was described tonight by a survivor of the wreck of two Pennsylvania railroad express trains last night near Blairsville intersection, Pennsylvania.

Raymond B. Hubbs, Long Island railroad powerman, found Mr. McConnell, engineer, entangled in his wrecked engine.

"I am dying," said McConnell, "and I forgive my enemies. God knows I have always led a clean life."

Most of the survivors were only partly dressed, having lost most of their baggage and clothing. Robert Berman, of Birmingham, Ala., arrived with his bride of a day, who lost her trousseau.

"No one in history has ever had such a honeymoon," he said. "However, I'm on my way."

of that ilk, but it has a right to expect at least that men of respectable repute, eminent in the financial world and occupying the highest public stations, like Andrew W. Mellon and George Wharton Pepper, will not attempt to justify the flagrant exhibition of political corruption, including prostitution of the elective franchise through the open purchase of voters under the alias of "watchers" that this country has ever witnessed. And any attempted justification is multiplied in its offensiveness when it is issued by Secretary Mellon, that money so disbursed was legitimately as if it had been spent as half of a church.

"It is the reputation of every conception of popular government and political morality. It is about the limit that great wealth can go in prostituting the means and methods adopted by the people for the selection of their public officials. That one of the highest of those public officials should attempt to legitimize it and add the corruptorists blameless ought to be and doubtless is almost as great a shock to the moral sensibilities of the people as the original offense."

"It may seem strange, too, that President Coolidge is silent regarding these revelations that show the necessity for new penal legislation. But he was silent at the time of the naval oil revelations and he was silent at the time of the Daugherty revelations. Mr. Mellon, however, is the prop and the pillar of the Coolidge administration. In most matters of vital importance he speaks for the administration, and the fact that he has given the Pennsylvania story his moral sanction may seem to preclude the necessity for further administration comment."

WET or DRY?

The new Texaco is a "dry gas." Petroleum engineers have been trying for years to perfect a motor gasoline which would vaporize to a dry gas under engine conditions and overcome the bad effects of a wet mixture. The new Texaco forms a dry gas at a temperature much lower than others on the market.

A wet gas, as it would appear in the engine manifold, is a mixture of gasoline vapor and fine drops of liquid gasoline. It is the cause of unequal cylinder distribution and excessive crankcase dilution, and the result of high "endpoint" and low volatility. A wet gas chokes power. Liquid drops separate from the mixture at every bend of the manifold, and following the straightest path, concentrate at the end cylinders. That is why the spark plugs of the end cylinders are fouled more frequently than the others. A dry gas, no matter how greatly magnified, is absolutely invisible—a perfect mixture of vapor and air. Dry gas conserves power. It equalizes cylinder distribution and reduces crankcase dilution to a minimum, and is the result of low end point and high volatility.

The new and better Texaco, with its new low boiling point and low end point, its higher volatility and balanced distillation range, now provides an entirely new motor fuel—a dry gas of unequalled qualities.

The result is a far better manifold distribution, which permits a leaner carburetor setting, and means no flooded cylinders, less crankcase dilution, easier starting, maximum acceleration and more mileage.

Start today with a stop at the pump displaying the Texaco Red Star and Green T. You don't have to ask for the new Texaco—it's there at the regular place from the regular pump. And there, too, you can get the clean, clear, golden Texaco Motor Oil, famed for its lubricating value and freedom from carbon formation.

Davis-Weedon Marriage Takes Place at Presbyterian Church

Among the most prominent and interesting of the June weddings was that of Miss Josephine Davis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Davis, and Fred K. Weedon which was solemnized at 6 o'clock at the North Avenue Presbyterian church Thursday, June 17. In the absence of Dr. Richard Orme Ryan, pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. J. Spole Lyon performed the marriage ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated throughout. The altar was banked with palms, ferns and foliage plants, in artistic arrangement. The choir loft was garlanded with smilax, and arranged among the greenery were clusters of white flowers. In the center of the palms was a large shower basket on a pedestal filled with lilies and showered with white sweet peas and swainsons on tiny white ribbons. At either side of the bank of palms were similar baskets, alternating with massive cathedral candelabra holding white lighted tapers.

Nuptial Music.
A beautiful musical selection rendered during the seating of the guests was in charge of Joseph Ragan. At the sound of the chimes, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played and the bridal party entered the church. First to enter were ushers, who came in pairs. They were E. K. Davis, and Palmer Johnson, and Spencer Mitchell and Arthur Beall, of Tampa, Fla.

Next came the bridesmaids, who entered in pairs. They were Miss Mary Knight, Miss Ruth Cruselle, Miss Claire Louise Scott, all of Atlanta and Miss Mary Weedon, of Tampa, Fla., sister of the groom.

They all wore gowns fashioned alike, of pastel shades of taffeta made bouffant style. Around the hem of the skirts were georgette bands four inches wide which were bound with the taffeta. A train hung from the left shoulder, caught there with a rhinestone buckle. The train was caught to the waist line with a bow, and then fell to the floor, about a yard long.

The flowers were ophelia roses in cascade effect, with a shower of white sweet peas and swainsons.

Miss Evelyn Egan, of Los Angeles, California, maid of honor, entered next. Her gown was of orchid taffeta, fashioned like the bridesmaids' dresses.

She carried a cascade bouquet of orchid sweet peas, showered with lilies of the valley and sweet peas. Just preceding the bride came little Miss Allison DuBose, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. O. DuBose, of Andrews, S. C., who acted as flower girl. She wore a dainty frock of sunset georgette, shirred around the neck line. The full skirt had many picot ruffles. A train caught on the left shoulder fell to the floor like the ones of the bridesmaids' dresses. She carried a basket of ophelia roses showered with swainsons, and tied with ophelia colored ribbons.

Lovely Bride.
The bride entered with her father, V. R. Davis, who gave her in marriage, and at the altar they were joined by the groom and his best man, Velma Keene, of Sarasota, Fla.

The bride presented a picture of loveliness in her bridal robe of white georgette elaborately beaded in crystals and pearls. It was made along straight lines, which was particularly becoming to her brunette type of

Jackie Coogan Will Feature Matinee Program

During the summer vacation, crowds are expected to increase at the better films matinees, even more than last summer, when the average for the hot period was over 1,000 each week. Fine programs have been provided by the matinee committee. The cooling apparatus recently installed by the Howard management will make this theater one of the most comfortable places in town.

Everyone is delighted with the announcement of a Jackie Coogan picture this week, Saturday, June 19. Jackie's film will be "Old Clothes," one of his latest, and not before shown at the matinee. With this will be shown another unusual picture, called "Wild Beasts of Borneo," a two-reel film showing the hunting of wild animals with a camera.

A comedy in addition, "Felix gets the Can," makes this one of the strongest programs ever given at the matinees.

During the absence from the city of Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman, the programs which she has prepared in advance will be in charge of Mr. Charles G. Harding, assistant chairman, who will also select the programs. Mrs. John G. Courtney, chaperon chairman, will be assisted by Boy and Girl Scouts, and by members of the Better Films committee.

This week's program will be eight Spanish dancers of Miss Nell Sullivan's dancing school.

The matinees start at 9:30 o'clock and the admission is 10 cents.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

ONE OF THE NAVAL ENCOUNTERS THAT MARKED THE GROWTH OF THE WAR SPIRIT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN, WAS THAT OF THE "PRESIDENT" AND THE "LITTLE BELT" IN 1857.

IN MAY, 1857, CAPTAIN JOHN RODGERS OF THE U.S. FRIGATE "PRESIDENT" WHILE CRUISING OFF SANDY HOOK, SIGHTED A BRITISH WARSHIP HOVERING NEAR THE COAST AND GAVE CHASE. AT NIGHTFALL RODGERS HAD OVERHAULED THE FLEEING SHIP.

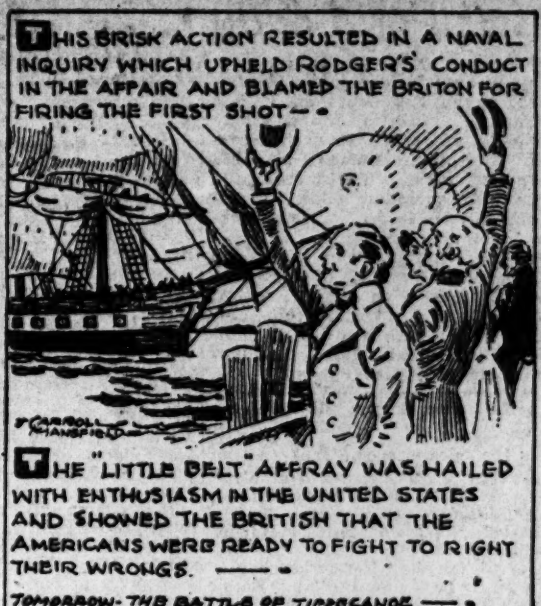

PERHAPS, HOPING TO ESCAPE IN THE DARKNESS, THE BRITISH SHIP FIRED ON THE "PRESIDENT," AND A BRIEF, FIERCE DUEL TOOK PLACE.

SO ACCURATE WAS THE FIRE OF THE AMERICAN GUNNERS, THAT WITHIN FIFTEEN MINUTES THE ENEMY SHIP CEASED FIRING AND REPORTED HERSELF IN DISTRESS.

ALL NIGHT LONG THE "PRESIDENT" STOOD BY THE CRIPPLED BRITISH SHIP TO RENDER AID IF NEEDED.

WHEN DAWN CAME, RODGERS MADE OUT HIS VANQUISHED FOE TO BE THE BRITISH WARSHIP "LITTLE BELT."

THIS BRISK ACTION RESULTED IN A NAVAL INQUIRY WHICH UPHHELD RODGERS' CONDUCT IN THE AFFAIR AND BLAMED THE BRITON FOR FIRING THE FIRST SHOT.

THE "LITTLE BELT" AFFRAY WAS HAILED WITH ENTHUSIASM IN THE UNITED STATES AND SHOWED THE BRITISH THAT THE AMERICANS WERE READY TO FIGHT TO RIGHT THEIR WRONGS.

ROGER W. DAVIS DIES AT HOSPITAL

Roger W. Davis, well known business man of Charlotte, N. C., and southern representative of the Saco-Lowell shops, of Lowell, Mass., manufacturer of cotton mill machinery for the past 20 years, died at a private hospital here Thursday afternoon after an illness of about two weeks.

Mr. Davis, with his wife, came to Atlanta more than two weeks ago to attend the commencement exercises at Georgia Tech, when his son, Alexander Davis, was graduated. Tuesday, June 8, he was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia, from which he died Thursday.

A native of Covington, Ga., Mr. Davis secured his early education in the rural schools of Covington, and entered Georgia Tech after completing his preparatory work. He was graduated from Tech in the early history of the school, when Dr. Hopkins was president, and soon after being graduated he entered the service of the Saco-Lowell company.

For more than 15 years Mr. Davis traveled for the cotton mill manufacturing company, and during the past five years, after a southeastern office was opened in Charlotte, he was manager of the branch office, the position he held at the time of his death.

Dr. Davis was well known in business circles throughout the southeast and thousands of business friends as well as others will mourn his sudden death. He was said to have been one of the most popular students at Georgia Tech during its early history and was a member of the S. A. E. fraternity.

He took an active part in civic and religious affairs of North Carolina and was said to be one of the most popular business men of the city.

Mr. Davis is survived by his wife, a son, Alexander Davis, his father and mother, and a brother, all living in San Francisco. Funeral arrangements had not been completed Thursday night.

PRINCE CAROL LOSES INCOME FROM RUMANIA

Bucharest, June 17.—(AP)—Prince Carol of Rumania, whose recent escapades with Madame Lupescu attracted wide attention, has been dropped from the royal will list by the Rumanian government. His abandoned wife, Princess Helene, and her four-year-old son, the crown prince, will receive Carol's former allowance, which amounts to $60,000 a year.

The prince hereafter will be obliged to live on the revenue from his small landholdings in Rumania and on the income from the money left him by his great-granduncle, King Carol I. These together are said to aggregate about $30,000 a year. The prince continues to live in Paris with Madame Lupescu.

Nicholas Nano, former Rumanian charge d'affaires at Washington, recently saw Carol in Paris. He says the prince is showing keen interest in Rumanian affairs. Also he appeared somewhat "bored" with his life with Madame Lupescu. Nano believes Carol is now remorseful for his recent action, and that a reconciliation between him and the royal family within six or nine months is not improbable.

He declares Madame Lupescu has a firm hold on Carol and dominates him as Princess Helene, his own wife, never attempted to do.

BUSINESS SHOWS MAN'S CHARACTER, SAYS REV. MOOR

Declaring that a man's business is a reflection of what he is and what he will eventually mean to society, the Rev. N. R. H. Moor, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, in an address Thursday at noon to the City club urged the members to make their business the channel through which they give expression to their spiritual worth.

"When business is looked upon in this manner it becomes a power, and the good it can do is incalculable. Religion is a form of power. Today we know that power has gained the respect of men. It has created fear and slavery in the minds of men, but it can also create love and service. To this end business must ever tend, and, as it consecrates itself to this task, it becomes a godsend to humanity."

"Business is not an end in itself. The end of business is not money, but character; not profit, but service. No business can run without money and profits, but the character that business forms in men is the moral barometer which foretells whether we are to have a sane or an insane world," Rev. Moor added.

Press Huddleston, of the Lions' club, extended an invitation to the members of the City club to attend a farewell dinner to be given in honor of the Rev. Ben R. Lacy, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, who leaves shortly to take the president's chair of the Union Theological seminary of Richmond, Va. The dinner will be given at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Ansley hotel.

The United States supreme court will hear arguments October 18 in the case of the state of Georgia against the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, involving the validity of a law passed by the legislature in 1923 requiring all railroads in Georgia to use automatic fire boxes on locomotives, according to notice received Thursday by Attorney General George M. Napier.

In this case the railroad won a verdict in the United States district court where the law was held invalid. The state appealed the case to the supreme court. Attorney General Napier announced he would go to Washington on the date set for the hearing and present the state's argument in the case.

The same issue as drawn in the Georgia case also is involved in three other cases appealed from other states where similar laws were passed, and were attacked by the railroads.

WOOD PAYS ENTRANCE IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

J. O. Wood, one of the representatives in the legislature from Fulton county, paid $250 to the state democratic executive committee Thursday and qualified as a candidate for governor, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the committee. Wood is the first candidate for governor to qualify with the executive committee.

Recently friends of John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway commission, posted $250 in cash with Mrs. Anderson to pay his entrance fee, but Chairman Holder has not yet personally qualified as a candidate. Others who have announced their candidacies for governor but who have not yet qualified are Dr. J. H. Hardman, of Commerce, and J. H. Ennis, of Milledgeville. George Carswell, of Wilkinson county, is considering an entry in this race but he has not qualified as an actual candidate.

N. H. Ballard, former state superintendent of schools, qualified as a candidate for that position Thursday when he paid his entrance fee of $150. Fort E. Land, present holder of this office, recently announced his candidacy for re-nomination. Mr. Land defeated Mr. Ballard in a race for this office in the last primary.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

INSTALLMENT XXXV.
CONNINGTON IS SCARED.

The front elevation of the Gamma Delta club was grimly early Victorian, which is a synonym for all that is ugly and forbidding in architecture. It was a compound of tall, dirty, closely curtained windows above and a disreputable looking second-hand furniture shop beneath. The latter was shuttered, and might not have been opened during many a year if judged solely by its weather-beaten aspect. Entrance to the club premises lay through a side door in the depths of a dark alley. When this was unbolled in response to a double ring on an electric bell and a peculiar scratching with the nails on an upper panel, one entered the shop's empty inner storeroom, which on the night of Pantan's visit was plunged into pitch blackness, by merely closing the door.

A man who awaited Furneaux outside Pucci's had hurried on ahead, but was on hand to give the signal which drew bolts and bars. He now whispered something to an unseen individual who switched on a feeble electric torch, and thus indicated a broad stairs leading to the first floor in two flights. Here another door was unlocked, and patrons were supposed to be scrutinized by an unhealthy looking woman who sat behind a long, high desk, ending in a flap counter.

Whatever explanation was given it sufficed. The guardian hardly glanced at Furneaux and Pantan—Spot she did not see at all until he was crossing the floor of an ill lighted room in which a dance had just ceased, as a girl was fitting a new record into a gramophone, and some dozen couples were seated at small tables arranged in front of a service counter. An arched passage showed that this was simply an adjunct to a still more secluded bar. Pantan, versed in the wiles of dugouts, knew that if the police raided the place at least three stout lines of defense would have to be stormed before the first bottle of wine or spirits could be found. Heavy folding shutters were in readiness to protect the club's supplies of intoxicants, while two innocuous urns, marked "Coffee" and "Tea," respectively, supported by a mixed force of cups and plates, would remain on the counter as evidence of convivial virtue.

No one seemed to pay heed to the three men; but many eyes were focussed on Spot, who sneezed loudly at the first sniff of concentrated cigarette smoke, which filled the air with a blue mist, but disregarded it completely afterwards. He had withstood stronger reek during many a blizzard at Moose Lake.

The interior bar was as dingy and badly illuminated as the larger dance hall, but some effort had been made to relieve the bareness of the walls by placarding them with cheap sporting prints and a whole collection of unpleasant cartoons cut from a Parisian weekly. This room was nearly half full of men, with a few women, playing cards, chess and dominoes. Behind a fitted counter stood an array of bottles on shelves. A villainous looking barman was talking to a man who had his back to the newcomers. Four other men were chatting in a group. A visitor from Mars might have marveled that any collection of human beings should apparently prefer the had atmosphere and positive discomforts of such a barn to the privacy of a house, however humble. Of course, if a C. I. D. drug specialist accompanied him, he might understand. And, again, he might be more puzzled than ever.

Furneaux's companion muttered something, and sidled to a card table. The detective turned to John, and said in a most casual way: "There's your friend, chinking with the barkeep. Get close to him, order two liqueur brandies, and see what happens. If he recognizes you, hail him by his right name."

Oddly enough, Spot attracted little attention here. He was on a leash, of course, and the scattered tables helped to some extent in concealing his presence.

Fantun was sure that the barman gave Furneaux a sharp glance, and just as quickly decided to look at any one except the detective. He perplexed John by saying in response to the request for the brandy:

"Are you a new member?"
"I suppose so," said John.
"What's your name?"
"John Pantan."

"Hell it is!" snarled the man by John's side.

This individual had been slouching against the counter, resting his elbows on a zinc slab, and digging his clenched fists into his jaws, but he whirled around now with an animal-like alertness, his arms dropped, and his right hand passed beneath his coat in the direction of a hip pocket. "Steady, Dopey!" said the barman in a curiously authoritative way. It was Spot who brought about a real crisis. He stiffened and growled, and was ready to spring, so Pantan, knowing he would be obeyed, said, "Tchun!"

The dog yielded, and his bushy mane drooped, but the familiar command had an extraordinary effect on the surly fellow who resembled Pantan's presence so thoroughly. For a second his relaxed limbs straightened, his head was lifted, his hands fell, and his heels nearly clicked. Then he remembered.

"Tchun, yourself!" he cried almost in falsetto. "Some blistering nerve you've got, Pantan, butting in here and calling an old soldier to attention!"

John's right fist clinched. Just in time, Furneaux broke in. "You two seem to know each other," he cackled cheerfully. "The war is over now. Let bygones be bygones!"

John swallowed both his wrath and the insult.

"What's the matter, Connington?" he said. "What cause for a quarrel have I given you?"

"Connington be d—d!" shrilled the other, still in the throes of utmost excitement. "My name's Walker. Isn't it, Jim?"—this to the barman.

"O, chuck it!" was the disgusted answer. "This yer gentleman calls you Connington. If you didn't want ter own up why the blazes did you lash out at him in that bald headed way? Sometimes, you myke me tired. Did you s'y two liqueurs, sir?"

"Yes," said John. He turned to Connington again.

"I was only talking to my dog," he explained, but an unguarded tone in his voice made the implied apology sound worse than a protest.

"Well, talk some more to him, and leave me alone."

"I am not aware that I ever addressed you."

"Not that's likely, too. You could always forget things you didn't want to remember."

"But, let us at least get this matter cleared up. I was asked for my name, and gave it. Surely it was you who attacked me?"

"You knew I was here, and thought to surprise me. Who brought you in, I'd like to know. Was it you?" and Connington glowered at Furneaux.

"Yes, and if it comes to that, why shouldn't I? Do you own the place?"

The detective's geniality had frozen rather rapidly, but the other was too frightened or too angry to notice the fact.

"You little rat, it was you who led me on to jaw about Pantan the other evening," he said. "What's the game? What are you after? You look like a cursed lawyer's clerk, but if you think I'm going to whitewash our honorable ex-captain you're jolly well mistaken."

"That's a pity," said Furneaux quietly. "Mr. Pantan is no longer a poor man. He can take care of his friends—even of his enemies."

Cross-Country Record Broken By Studebaker Six 'Sheriff'

Salt Lake City Business Men Drive From New York to San Francisco in 86 Hours, 20 Minutes.

San Francisco, Calif., June 17.—Two Salt Lake City business men, A. B. Jenkins and Ray Peck, driving the entire distance with stops only for gas and oil, have smashed all existing records for an automobile run from New York to San Francisco. They drove a stock model Studebaker six 'Sheriff'.

They made the trip in 86 hours 20 minutes total elapsed time. The distance covered was 3,471 miles. The fastest time by train, 92 hours 45 minutes. Fast net train time (not allowing for connections), 88 hours. Best fastest time by train, 6 hours 25 minutes. Previous record, 102 hours 45 minutes. Best previous record, 16 hours 25 minutes.

At Salt Lake City, their home town, the drivers stopped only long enough to take on fuel and arrived in Reno, Nev., in the early hours of the morning on June 17. It was the final stop for gas and oil before the long pull over the mountains and into Frisco. The car was still running perfectly. At 12:27 p. m. today the 'Sheriff' took off from Reno and, after a long drive, arrived in San Francisco at 10:40 a. m. June 16.

At the start, delay in receiving the stamped Western Union departure slip caused them to miss a ferry to Jersey and they had to wait for another. At 2:11 a. m., the car pulled out of Weehauken, where L. B. Miller, of San Francisco, started the run which until now has held the record. Milk trains blocked five railway crossings in New Jersey, delaying Jenkins and Peck for 20 precious minutes, and near McConnelburg, Pa., the road was filled with blasted rock from a stone quarry.

The drivers ran into blinding rains on the steep mountain grades in Pennsylvania. Roadways were flooded and a double windshield wiper failed to keep vision clear. Of the approximately 450 miles from Greensburg, Pa., to South Bend, Ind., the next "control" 375 miles were driven in the heaviest rains of the history of the weather bureau for this season of the year. But the 'Sheriff' checked in at South Bend five minutes ahead of schedule, at 9:45 p. m.

Leaving Chicago, at the eastern Iowa line at 4:10 the following morning Jenkins and Peck began to plough through roads made almost a stage by heating rains, but left the state at Council Bluffs one hour ahead of schedule.

The drivers hit Nebraska two hours and a half ahead of schedule and were thankful for the surplus time. The roads were flooded almost to a stage of impassability. Rain was coming down in sheets, but the car was running beautifully and pulled into Cheyenne, Wyo., only 20 minutes late. Driving conditions improved in Wyoming, but the 'Sheriff' was an hour behind schedule when it left Rock Springs at 10:40 a. m. June 16.

HARRY H. ROGERS HEADS ROTARIANS

Denver, June 17.—(AP)—Harry H. Rogers, of San Antonio, Texas, today was elected to the presidency of the International at the seventeenth annual convention of the organization held here. Rogers' election came after Thomas Davis, of Butte, Mont., had been eliminated on the first ballot and Arthur H. Sapp, of Huntington, Ind., the remaining candidate, had withdrawn and moved that Rogers receive the unanimous ballot. The motion was seconded by Davis.

The new president was born near Wheeland, Mo., and was admitted to the Missouri bar at the age of 25. He built the Uvalde and Northern railroad and was instrumental in building the San Antonio Cotton mill, of which firm he is vice president. He is a director of several banks and member of the board of trustees of several universities. He was elected director of Rotary's fifteen districts in 1924 and was named director of Rotary International at Cleveland.

The resolutions committee will report tomorrow and the date of the next convention will be set. An international fellowship meeting for all international officers and district governors and a celebration in behalf of the new president, led by the Texas delegations, were among the program features tonight.

During his short service as a member of city council he has made many friends and connections, which, it is said, will be valuable in carrying out his policy of progressive legislation. "If elected to the post, I pledge my efforts in behalf of all citizens always looking to the good of the majority, the principle upon which our government is founded," Mr. Rogers declared Thursday.

WILLIAMS TO SPEAK AT CITY AUDITORIUM

A large crowd is expected tonight when Dr. L. K. Williams, pastor of the Olivet Baptist church, of Chicago, the largest negro Baptist church in the world, and president of the National Baptist convention, makes an address in the city auditorium here on the subject "The Church and Race Relations." Dr. Williams is one of the most forceful negro orators before the American people today.

Dr. Williams is not only one of the outstanding negro orators of the country, but his experience, wisdom and statesmanship has achieved a unique leadership among his people and has won the confidence and admiration of his white friends, said the Rev. Carlisle Jones Thursday in commenting on Dr. Williams coming to Atlanta.

Dr. Williams was appointed by ex-Governor Lowndes, of Illinois, a member of the inter-racial commission, and because of his sane and wholesome counsel rendered valuable service to his race and city following the Chicago riot. He has been called on repeatedly to lecture at Chicago university and the Northern Theological seminary of Chicago. At present he is vice president of the World's Baptist alliance and is prominently identified with some of the greatest religious organizations in the country.
